DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: on page 2, line 12, should the term "worn" be inserted after "which when"?

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Objections

2. Claim 1 is objected to because of the following informalities: in line 9 should "materia" read "material"? Appropriate correction is required.
3. Claim 1 is objected to because of the following informalities: in line 10 should "f" read "of"? Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Grundstrom (US 2,127,355).

In regard to claim 1, Grundstrom teaches a pair of protective pants (10) having an upper portion (11), which when worn covers a lower region of a wearer's torso, and two leg portions each of which when worn covers one of the wearer's legs (figure 1). Each leg portion has an upper region which extends downwardly from the upper portion (11) and a lower region (12) which extends upwardly from a lower end of the leg portion toward the upper region (11). The lower region (12) terminates not higher than where the leg portion when worn cover's the wearer's knee (page 1, column 2, lines 20-22). The lower region has a layer of puncture resistant material from hot splashing molten metal or the like (page 1, column 2, lines 4-6 and page 1, column 1, lines 5-8). The puncture resistant material (12) is made from a cloth fabric and extends upwardly from the lower end of the leg portion and surrounds the lower end of the leg portion (page 1, column 2, lines 4-6).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 2-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Grundstrom in view of Baxter (US 5,918,319).

Grundstrom teaches a protective pant garment as described above in claim 1. However, Grundstrom fails to teach the upper portion and the upper regions of the leg portions having a layer of abrasion-resistant material and having one or more inner layers.

In regard to claims 2-4, Baxter teaches a work pant garment (10) comprised of an abrasion-resistant material (12, 14, 15) in the upper portion (15) and leg portions (12, 14). Further, Baxter teaches the upper portion and the leg portions have one or more inner layers (11).

It would have been obvious to have provided the protective pant with puncture resistant lower portion of Grundstrom with the at least one inner layer and abrasion resistant material on the upper portion of the pant and the leg portions, since the protective pants of Grundstrom provided with abrasion resistant upper portions and at least one inner layer would provide a garment that not only protects the user during work from hazardous conditions but also protects the garment from getting holes and therefore prolonging the life of the garment.

Conclusion

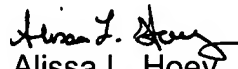

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Frith et al., Evans et al., Newson, Hightower, Jr., Carr, Chellis, DeBaene, Grilliot et al., Archer, Barker, Arber, Johnson and Leflet et al. are all cited to show closely related garments.
